Tech High School

Tech's student body is made up of 4,700 individuals; there are those who love the school, respect the chance to be able to learn and grow. These are the students who give a day of their time to clean the campus of its trash, or volunteer some kind of service to put a little into the school that they have gotten so much out of. These students realize what an opportunity they have and wish that they had more time to take more classes.

These students also can be found participating in the organizations on campus while carrying a full academic load. These are the students that realize the advantage they have. They come to classes on test day, they learn in spite of the ones who sit in the back of the classroom and sleep or pop their gum making disturbances for the others. When tests come around the students who care are ready, while others yell familiar phrases such as: "I wasn't here that day," or "Hey, get on, man."

One can see there are many types of people at Tech, but most do care.

Awareness

1977 is the time to lay aside the dreams of youth and start thinking about here and now. In today's fast-paced society, many incidents have been ignored. For instance, the restrooms and walls of the buildings on campus show the actions of others who don't care. This is no longer a time for us to dream, but instead, face reality! What do we care about? What is reality for us? This is the kind to question.

We must take a hard look at these conditions which directly affect our daily lives. Do we care enough to help, rather than hurt one another? Do we care enough about succeeding in our areas of interest to put forth faithful effort day by day? Do we care about our growth enough to take advantage of the school? The thinkers and the doers certainly do.

Have you ever wondered What is so great about violence, or why is the focus of attention on skin color instead of the quality of character? These are some of the aspects that we must confront in daily actions When will youth and adults be able to respect each other's opinions, even when they don't agree? Here are the questions, we must find the answers.

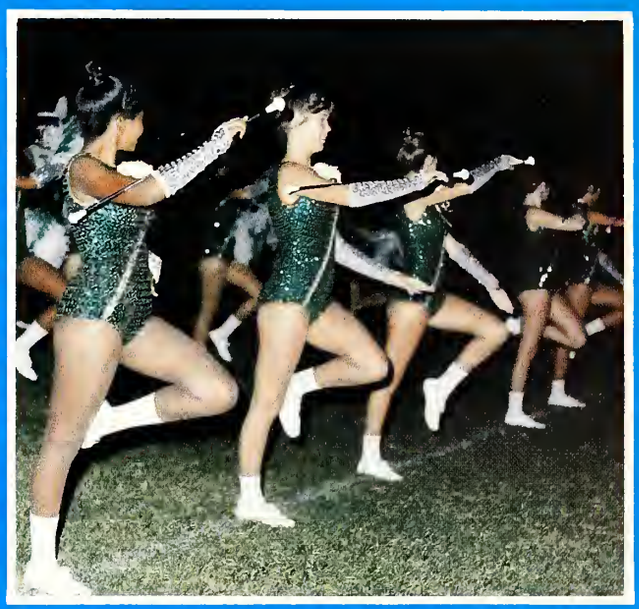
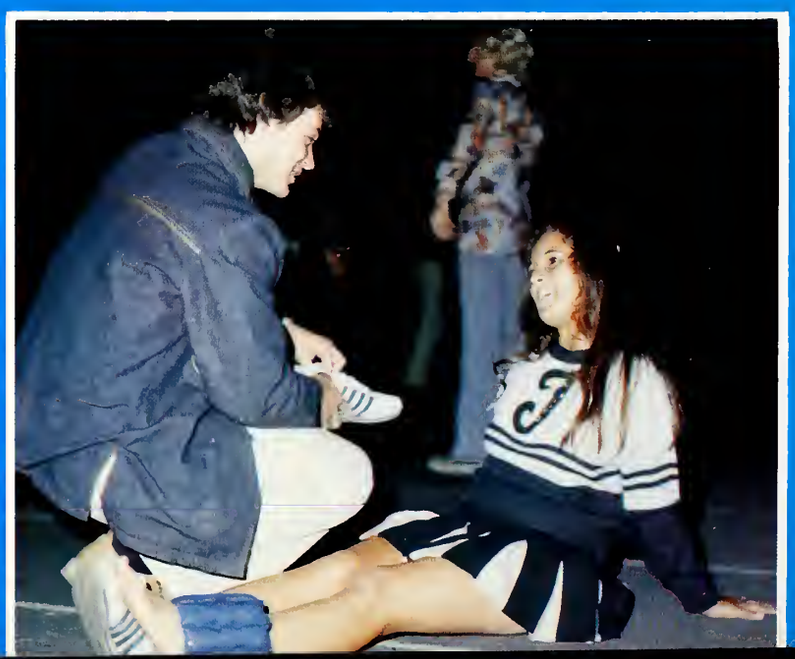
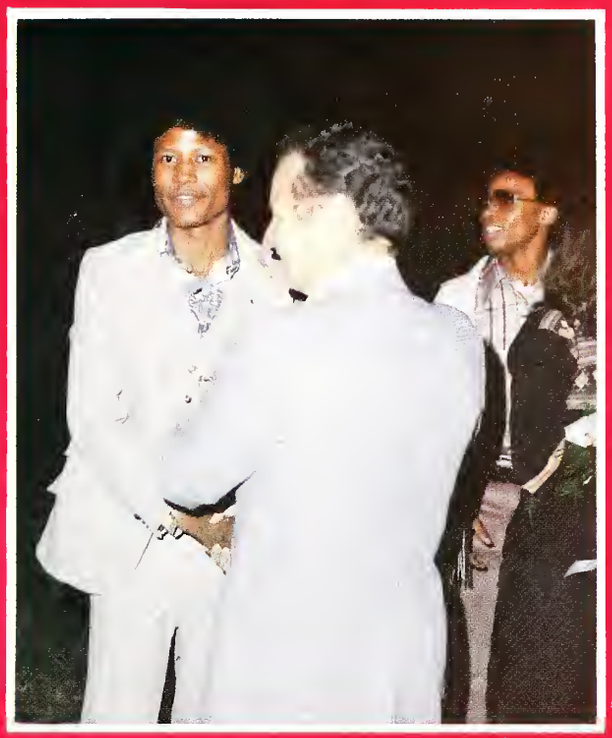
Homecoming honors Tech







On October 1, pupils could look across the Tech campus and see the sky filled with hundreds of green and white balloons. Green and white banners trailed behind thousands of students. It was the pep-session expressing that excitement that so many of us feel on Homecoming day.

Despite the fact that trouble followed the pep session, the Homecoming spirit was not broken. Spirit-filled students, teachers and parents alike filled the stadium that evening, showing their excitement in enthusiastic cheers.

The halftime festivities started with the parade of floats made by the senior roll rooms. The floats circled around the field carrying those who helped to make them and the king and queen candidates. After craftmanship and other factors had been judged, Roll Room 648 was selected as the winner. Next was the announcement of senior class officers.

Then the big moment, the presentation of Homecoming King and Queen awards. Amy Piety was announced Queen, and Wendell Stewart was awarded the honor of being the first Homecoming King in the history of Tech.

Coming up last to stop the half-time program with a boom, was the fireworks display. Bright colors filled the sky and echoes of oohs and ahhs came from the stands.

Tech fought a hard battle, but the game was a failure. Even though we lost the game, Titans filed out of the stadium full of pride.

School plays show talented Titans

In the spring of 1976, students on Tech campus had the chance to see their fellow students take up the acting roles as school plays were presented throughout the semester. These plays were: OUR AMERICAN COUSIN, THE SCHEMING LIEUTENANT, and PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS. Robert Maloy, now retired, coached these productions, working with the students after school many nights. The plays, shown in the forum for all to see, were sponsored by the Social Studies Department. English classes also attended showings of the Bicentennial presentations.

This year's musical turned out to be one of the funniest, and best acted musicals put on by Tech students in a few years. ONCE UPON A MATTRESS had many super-dramatic moments: the crying of Mike Thomas and the sleeping of Cheryl Cooper. From the halls of Normandy to the bells on Dave Lewis' head, the show had the humor desired by two screaming audiences.

The story centered around a sad prince who wanted a bride. Along came Princess Winifred to battle the queen for her son's hand in marriage. In the end, the princess won after squelching evil plots of cheating by the minstrel, the jester, and the mute king.

'76 Prom: Evening of Enjoyment

Spring of 1976, also brought the Junior-Senior prom. This was the third year that the two classes held it together. The prom was held at the beautiful Marriot Hotel where a dinner and dancing were part of a full evening of enjoyment. Crowned as Junior Prom King and Queen were Mike Thomas and Tammie Seats, while Teresa James and Dwayne Engram were selected by the Seniors for their royalty. The prom was held on Thursday, April 15. Much to the surprise of many students, however, it turned out to be a beautiful evening for everyone. As the night ended all the well-dressed couples went their own ways, some to be back next year, others to go on into life.

Life on campus goes outside and in

Have you ever taken a look at the cafeteria during the first week of school? Notice how it always seems to say, Tech is going to be overcrowded this year. But Tech isn't overcrowded. It is wholesomely populated with talented people such as Rick Moore '76 who has ventured forth to a career of acting. (Bit part in KING KONG.)

And where did it all start? That first week of school in a cafeteria that cried out for mercy under the heavy traffic of freshmen who thought they knew where they were going, and those few upperclassmen who did not intend for the freshmen to find out where they were going. It was all in fun.

Tech is big; therefore a relationship with people isn't more profound than the loyalty Titans have for the school. The beauty of Tech's college-sized campus and the varying architectural design of the buildings are enough to pull a person away in a fantasy world that only a place like Tech can provide.

Hunger does not stop when you take a picture of it.

It is a mystery that birds can sing.
That men can fly and reach the maan and then return to earth.
It is a mystery that ane can see,
That ane can hear, that we have minds, that we can think and plan.
It is a mystery that we can speak and share our thoughts with athers, and through TV
Our thaughts spread everywhere.
It is a mystery that we can write and share our thaughts with those unborn
Wha take aur places here on earth.
It is a mystery that we are born, that we can live, that we can grow, that we can die.
It is a mystery that in aur awn genes is faund the pattern af all living things, the gene that tells each cell its duty.
It is a mystery that we get warmth, light and pawer stared in jet black caal,
Sunlight came ta earth cauntless years aga.
It is a mystery we have the earth, we see the maan and all the stars, stars which are the suns of other galaxies than our awn in the unmeasured depths af space.
Are all these mysteries far me?

I wander why.

Was all the casmas made far earth-baund man alane?
It cannat be; an ather planets circling ather suns
There must be life, perhaps a life mare sentient than aur awn.

It's Christmas at Tech again

BELOW: Members af the Symphonic Band present their part.

Christmas time came to Tech in the hearts of all. It seemed as though the entire campus changed during the two to three weeks moving up to Christmas. The season was started by the Music Department's annual presentation of Christmas in the Round, which features most of the major music groups at Tech. Keeping in stride with the merriment, the different organizations had their individual activities. Ice skating was sponsored by the SAO, while the 300 program sponsored a roller skating party. During all this, the Senior Council featured a dance on December 13 in the Cafeteria. Key Club, with SAO assistance, completed a successful Toys-for-Tots drive on campus, adding more to the true feeling of the season. Other club activities took place in the Service Club, XYZ Club, and SAO.

Then on the last Friday before vacation the Techoir embarked on a city-wide caroling spree, bringing a wonderful sound to many downtown business people and shoppers, followed by caroling to friends of Tech on the Monday after. However, the Tech Christmas was not over until the Techoir Christmas Special was seen on TV on December 24. It's obvious that the Christmas spirit was at Tech.

Fall play's an odd one

November 10 the Forum. Students gathered from all corners of the campus. The lights dimmed, the curtains opened, and suddenly, before all eyes appeared the great fall play, THE ODD COUPLE. Featured in the title roles were Mike Thomas as Felix and Mike Greene as Oscar. Other performers were Edwin Marshall, Orron Coleman, Chris Warrenburg, Joe E. Brown, Cecilia Carter, and Alfenia Martin. The play was a takeoff on the popular television program.

For those who didn't see the play, it was about a man who joins his separated buddy after his marriage fails. In the end the perfectionist finds romance with not one, but two young females and leaves his distraught partner to return to the life of being a slob.

JOE BROWN laaks surprised as Mike Greene enjays the latest news.

Saluting JER*ATS connection

Tech has a very special neighboring school. Some of its students take a few classes here at Tech. Which school does this? The James E. Roberts School, of course.

The Roberts School was formed for the purpose of teaching handicapped children and giving them physical and occupational therapy.

The school runs on the same schedule as all city public schools. Every child is transported by bus to and from the school. There are three special buses assigned just for the students in wheel chairs. These buses have a lift on the side that raises the chairs onto the base of the bus. The chairs are then tied down and the students have safety belts to hold them in.

This year, Roberts School will be sending us six graduates. These seniors are enrolled in a senior roll room and all take at least one class here at Tech. Some of these classes include biology, house construction, child development, and classes in the Career Center.

There are also other Roberts students attending here from freshmen to seniors.

FLFFFF flies high to help students travel abroad

How did we get to see such great shows as HEE HAW; WELCOME BACK, KOTTER; MARY HARTMAN, MARY HARTMAN; or STARSKY AND HUTCH, with only a little change in name? Through the courtesy of the Foreign Language Department's presentation of the annual FLFFFF show.

Not only were there famous television shows, but they were interwined with Band-Aid, McDonald's, Alka-Seltzer, and Dial deodorant commercials. THE PRICE IS RIGHT, the EVENING NEWS, HAPPY DAYS, and many others were also presented in the student version.

The purpose of the presentation was to assist students in making a trip to another foreign country for the summer. It's an ideal format for student involvement and entertainment, a great program.

SNOW, BLOW, NO SHOW

Perhaps one of the greatest natural happenings of our four years at Tech took place during the year 1977. Let us never forget the great snow of January. Temperatures dropped to record-breaking lows with wind chill factors around 60 below zero; snow drifted up to three and four feet with some parts of Indianapolis having snow in higher proportions.

School was closed for 11 days while the city was urged to cut back on heating. Athletic schedules were revised, and the first semester was extended one week.

A GLASS SQUIRREL sits by a close-range frosty window.

Activities

What are the responsibilities of a student who is in a club or activity here ot Tech High School? First of all, there is the Student Affairs Organization. This is the Student Council for the school.

It starts at the grass roots, the roll room. A person is elected or appointed to represent his respective roll room. His job is to seek the desires of the students in his roll room and take them to the representative body meetings, where ideas are submitted to the executive board. After the representative meeting, it is the responsibility of the individual to report to his roll room.

The function of the executive board member is to take the proper steps to execute the ideas submitted by the student representatives.

An executive board member can be on the board in three ways: Three representatives are elected by each class; freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior. A representative is appointed by each club involved with student activities. A person may join through an associate membership. He does this by giving six hours of service to Tech and by attending all SAO meetings. All people involved must show an interest in the betterment of Tech high school.

There are some 50 different organizations for student involvement on campus. The SAO is only one of them, but the SAO is the official student body representative for the school. You can make the student body effective for a student body is only as strong as its weakest person. Tech needs more responsibility, less apathy and defeatism on the part of individual students. Get involved!

Marching Band Majorettes Whoop it up

The Titanettes twirled and punched their way through another year under the direction of Kim Ferguson, Pom-Pon captain; and Donna Adam, Twirlers captain. The girls performed at every home football and basketball game—both pre-game and halftime.

They also appeared at the Shortridge game at Market Square Arena. In the fall they marched with the band at the James Whitcomb Riley parade at Greenfield, Indiana. They took part in the CYO marching contest and the opening of the new inner loop of Interstate 70.

The co-captains made up all routines, and by practicing both during and after school, the girls perfected their performances.

Working on SNAP and SMILE, the girls looked forward to participating in the State Majorette Contest in March and the 500 Festival Parade at the close of the year.

The Marching Band had another successful year playing at all of the home football games, the most exciting and fulfilling performance being at the Homecoming game. The two drum majors are Robin Bruer and Jeff Berry.

Pep Band builds spirit

This year the Pep Band was the largest ever. With about 40 students forming the group, the band helped to entertain and liven up the fans at our four home basketball games.

The group played during half-time while the Majorettes did a musical routine.

To be part of the group, all one had to do was come to all practices and all performances.

Symphonic and Stage bands are tops in music

The Symphonic Band is the highest ranking of all the bands. Most of the people in the group help make up the Orchestra. It helps to form the Marching Band and Pep Band.

Over the year, the group participated in spring organizational contests, a spring concert and the graduation.

There are approximately 50 students in the band this year.

How many of you knew Tech has a dance band? Well we do, and it's composed of some of the most skilled musicians we have.

In fact, it's so talented that last year the band auditioned for, and received an invitation to Ball State's Jazz Festival. At the festival, Wayne Watson, our band's leading guitarist, put the other bands to shame with his guitar solo that won him The Outstanding Guitar Solo Award.

The 23 members of the band demanded everyone's attention at the Gift and Hobby Show on November 9, and touched people's hearts at Tech's Open House on November 12, and of course they auditioned for Ball State's Jazz Festival again this year.

Octette finds new spirit

Which music group contains eight young men who tend to create many ludicrous performances which keeps their audiences roaring? That's right, the Boys' Octette.

The group really had an enjoyable year. Many of their musical performances included imitating reindeer, posing as girls and pretending to get lost before programs.

The job of being a new director seemed to be no problem for Paul Prather who guided the Octette through the past year.

Four sopranos, four seconds, four altos, a few songs, a few dances, and a lot of cheer and happiness. Combine all of these and you'll get the Girls' Ensemble.

The girls were very busy this year. They performed at schools and the Art Show at the Fairgrounds. Members from a high school in Ohio came to visit Tech early in the year, and the Ensemble showed their appreciation by staging a return visit on March 25.

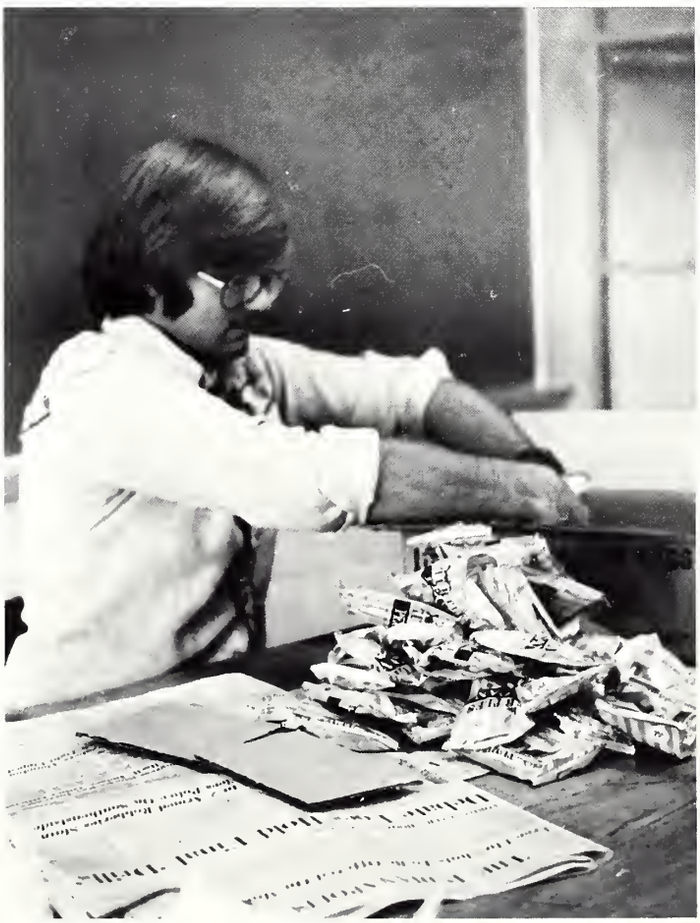
Music classes, right on tune

SUSIE JOHNSON, Vickie Corson, and Mike Chapman keep fiddlin' around.

As one looks through this section about Tech's music department, it becomes obvious that much is offered. But what classes lay behind these students who show their talent successfully?

Well let's start at the beginning and work up. There are band classes which range from beginning band to symphonic band. There also specialization classes of Woodwinds, Brass, and Percussion. Orchestra grabs a line in there with results in String Ensemble. Moving on, there are chorus classes which work up through the ranks to Techoir and the small ensembles. But most important are such classes as Music Theory, Conducting, Black Music and Jazz. These all teach the basic fundamentals up to the advanced music knowledge to the student. These classes are important for music majors and those who will seek college degrees.



CANDY SALES consumed much time for all music students, Jim Heavrin is a good example.

Piano Lab tuning in on key

The Tech Music Department has always been an explosive department. There are many classes to be taken, and this past year Tech added something new, a Piano Lab with 24 individual units and one master control unit at a cost of over $20,000. The lab is open to all—freshmen to seniors, expert pianists and people who don't even know where middle C is.

Based on a programmed learning system, the lessons vary. Each lesson offers a different goal. Until this goal is reached, the pupil doesn't move on. The classes don't get into technicalities because the piano units aren't set up for that, but they do focus on the different music forms.

In the first semester all students were together, but in the second semester, classes were expanded from four to six to accommodate students in respect to their skills. In these classes enrichment of skills was a goal.

Instructors were newcomers, Karen Nagy and Paul Prather, and Mrs. Kandis Brown, a veteran teacher at Tech. In the words of Mr. Prather, "It has been a success."

IOL, COE, takin' care of business

There is an organization at Tech that very few students are aware exists. This year-round organization is Cooperative Office Education, (COE for short).

COE is designed to give students with above average grades in business education, a chance to practice and sharpen their skills here at school and actually use them on a job each day after school. Along with cash pay, each student also receives four credits per year. The students, who must be seniors and business education majors, are taught to be businesslike and quite professional.

This year's COE group participated in many competitive events. Preparation for these gave them further experience.

Another organization of student interest is IOL-Intensive Office Laboratory. This is a senior business course headed by Mrs. Anne Cummins. The program is designed for prospective office workers and further experimenting with their business skills and office procedures. For a person looking for a good business opportunity, look to IOL.

Well, guess what! Tech has one of the top DECA chapters in the state of Indiana. In the past two years Tech's chapter has placed second and fourth in state competition respectively. But, not only is the chapter active on a state level, they also play an active role right here on the campus. Who can forget the successful "Titan Shack" which was sponsored by the group? This was just one thing that this chapter accomplished during the year. The guidance of Mrs. Delsie Shoemaker and the chapter officers ended a great year.

Another area of interest is the Vocation Industrial Clubs of America, which centers around the Career Center. Students with an interst in a vocational career find their interests lodged in this group.

Key Club unlocks hearts

Did you know that the Key Club at Tech is one of the few in the nation that allows girls to be members? Did you also know that Key Club sponsors many of the major events on campus? Well, if you didn't you do now.

The Key Club started the year by sponsoring the annual Homecoming activities which included a fireworks display, king and queen elections, and float competition.

Key Club also sponsored the Toys for Tots drive, and organization of football and basketball program bulletins. Other activities included ringing bells for the Salvation Army, chairing the Valentine Tea, and sponsoring the Student-Faculty Basketball Game.

President Tom Harvey attended the International Key Club convention over the summer in Anaheim, California as a voting delegate. Key Club members also represented the school at their district convention at French Lick, Indiana.

FIFTH ROW: Dwight Woodson, Brion Whipple, Dovid Lewis, Ron Sedom, Trocie Woods, Dennis Hicks.

What's happening in the Student Affairs Organization? Well, after a tough period of rebuilding, things began to pick up. The year began with a major recruitment of new members, this was followed by a homecoming pep session sponsored by the SAO. They continued working to get students involved for the student body's good. They sponsored the basketball, track, and jamboree queen competitions, an ice skating party, the organization of a student representative council, and a very successful canned food drive, and assisted the Key Club in the Toys-for-Tots drive. Many of the members were also seen in the concession stand at all the home athletic events. But perhaps the greatest achievement of the year was the organization of a representative student committee which met with the administration to confer on campus activities and problems.

The officers were David Lewis, president; Debbie Lewis, vice-president; Tracie Woods, secretary; and Marilyn Lucas, treasurer. Things are looking up for the SAO, but they still and always will need the student body's cooperation.

Students learn more about teaching

Exploratory Teaching is a program designed to give students actual classroom experience as well as academic credit toward graduation. Nine of Tech's students are taking advantage of this class and are really enjoying it. Alan Ulsh is the only male exploratory teacher.

The program is designed not only to encourage students to enter the teaching profession, but also to give students prevocation experiences to help them decide whether or not they have the abilities necessary to become successful teachers.

The purpose of the Future Educators of America is to give students who want to go into teaching help in teacher relations, to show them better teaching methods and how to use those methods, and try to give them examples of a better teacher-student relationship.

Brain Game different name but still the same

October 16, 1976 was the day when Tech and Scecina faced each other to battle their wits. Channel 13 was the place and the event was the Brain Game.

The Brain Game group practiced a few mornings every week with the assistance of the club sponsor, Wesley Murphy. The contestants would answer questions and study all different subjects to help prepare themselves for that special day.

The group's efforts were all in vain though because Scecina won with a score of 58-48.

Junior Council begins spring planning

Junior Council cut its membership from 27 last year to 18 this year because it is said to be easier to work with a smaller group. They got started somewhat late due to a surprise blizzard that closed schools. When they got organized, they went straight ahead to make up for lost time.

Headed by Ann McMillan and Mrs. Joyann Middlekauf, the group assisted with plans for the Junior-Senior Prom held this year at the Hyatt-Regency Hotel downtown on May 6.

To raise money Juniors sold Reese Cups, a pleasant change from the caramel candy so familiar to supporters of Tech projects. Also, the group sold junior buttons which bore the proud slogan, "The Class of '78 was meant to dominate."

Of course, only juniors are members of the Junior Council, but not automatically. Candidates must qualify with a C average, the recommendation of the roll room teacher, and of classroom teachers. Candidates must not have a disciplinary record in the office. They are nominated by petition and elected by the Junior Class.

They planned a special party to mark the end of the school year.

The Tech Speech Team is a voluntary extracurricular group open to any Tech student. It takes dependability, self expression, self discipline, hard work and desire to be a member. These qualities must be emphasized greatly if one truly wants to become a top winner. Dedicated members of the team drag themselves out of bed early on Saturday mornings ten to twelve times a year in hopes of carrying home that almightly blue ribbon, the symbol of excellence.

Categories include Dramatic, Humorous, Original Interpretation, Poetry, Original Oration. Also for those who think quickly there are Impromptu, girls and boys Extemporaneous and Radio Broadcasting.

Speech meets are not all work and no play. As a matter of fact, they seem to provide an enjoyable emotional outlet for the participants. Speakers have a chance to meet and make friends with people from all over the state. Some 80 to 100 students here at Tech are involved with the Speech Team yearly.

Points earned in speech contests lead to a life-time membership in the National Forensic League, an honor society for outstanding speakers.

Radio Club introduces the ham operator

In this age of the crowded citizen band radio frequencies, there are still those radio users who are not plagued with this sort of problem. These are the licensed amateur "ham" radio operators.

In order to receive an amateur license, the applicant must pass a written test along with a code key test. The written examination includes questions on electronic theory and general radio knowledge. Speed and accurary of transmitting Morse Code are tested on the code key test.

The Radio Club was formed to offer the pupil with an interest in this form of communication a means of acquiring the knowledge and practice needed to receive a license. It also offers the student the facilities and equipment to broadcast voice and code across the airwaves and allows the "ham" operator to venture miles away without ever leaving the seat of his chair.

The club's activities included ice skating, hiking, bicycle trips, photography projects, and just about anything a physically active and photo-oriented person would go for.

So no matter where the club goes or what they do, variety in activities may tend to make them one of the more unique and interesting groups around.

Yearbook started early

Once again amid interviews, photo schedules and deadlines, the yearbook staff combined their sincere efforts and got the yearbook that you are now holding completed in time.

Dedicated staffers worked not only during class periods but also came a few Saturdays and on some school vacation days.

Plans for this year's book started forming even before the school year began. Decisions on what the theme would be, what the cover should look like, and what clubs and classes are on which pages were decided by the second week in September.

Under the direction of Bernice Jones all problems were faced and our goal, the 1977 yearbook, was achieved.

Newspaper is all together

It's 11:00 and the newspaper staff must have the layout for the front page at the Print Shop in 30 minutes. But there is a four inch gap in the very middle of the page, the feature story needs a headline and the names of the people in a picture are unknown.

But no one panics. The editor starts thinking of a headline, a reporter runs out to get a story to fill the gap and everyone near is asked, "Do you know who these people are?"

With the assistance of Cecil Tresslar, the newspaper staff had a successful year despite their share of minor problems.

Chess Team "check" moves of progress

Every Wednesday in Room 305, a group of about 30 to 40 guys (and one girl) met for a session of concentrated effort. It was the Chess Club, headed by John Kern.

According to a first-hand account, being the only girl was very awkward at first. She reported that observers (male) were always watching her game, and if she made a bad move, she could hear the guys whispering to each other.

Now they regard her as any other competitor to be check-mated.

Participants win points for pairings and for tournament play.

Anthropology

Anthropology is the study of man and his development. Many students on campus find an interest in studying this area of science, and in so doing find their way to the Anthropology Club. This group tours different sites of exploration such as Tincher Site in Illinois, which is named for the club's sponsor, John Tincher; Mounds State Park, and Dickson Mounds Museum in Illinois, along with other spots throughout the state. The club has also heard many experts in the area of anthropology. A picture of this club can be found in the index.

Minds return to Math

The minds of Tech students are being developed by the Math Department. First the department takes over where the junior high school left off. Classes teach students 1 + 1 = 2. Then a x b = c in Algebra I.

Advanced Classes concern triangles, and theorems. Algebra III and IV teach how to prove a x b = c and 1 + 1 = 2. Advanced Math educates students to graph sine, cosine, tangent, cotangent, secant, and cosecant. The more ambitious person may take one of the new courses, Computer Math, Calculus, or Computer Laboratory.

KATHY HONG, Mark Hill, and Willie Nelson listen closely in class.

English Department silently progresses

This year the English Department has added a class which gives a whole new concept in teaching, a class which combines three present classes to make a different new one. This class combines literature, history, and art, and forms a new class called Humanities. This class gives the students a chance to see how art may relate to literature, as they could not realize when the classes were separate.

The class is for two credits and is two periods. The credits may be used in two of the three subjects, but may not be used in the same subject.

Each year the English Department may not show any drastic changes, but changes little by little gradually to meet the needs of Tech students.

The two pictures with the funny box in them, which look like speakers, are two-way radios. Indiana Bell Telephone Company markets these boxes, used as classroom transmitters. A pupil, who can not come to school for a long period of time because of an illness or surgery uses this transmitter at home. The teacher goes to the English Office every day and transports the companion box to class. The student listens and follows along with the textbook and also participates in class. This is a good way to get a credit if the pupil must be out for a long period of time.

Careers, careers and more careers

The Business Education Department has many advantages for any student. It prepares a student for a career and offers a variety of classes. It helps the pupil cope with the problems of his vocation, while building his vocabulary in this field.

Seniors are offered classes in Intensive Office Laboratory, Distributive Education, Cooperative Office Education, and Cashiering, plus all other classes offered to other students. They must qualify to get into these clubs.

Some other classes are General Business, Careers, Accounting, Data Processing, Typing, Business Law, Key Punch, and many others that have to do with a career in business.

If a student can not decide what career is wanted, he can take several business courses and choose the most interesting ones.

STEVE POWELL seems very interested in typing class.

KATHY HANNER removes finished paper to check for errors.

Social Studies presents past, present, and future

The Social Studies Department keeps students informed about events happening around the world. The variety of classes offered by this department proves that times are changing. Some of these classes are required by the state of Indiana, while others are for ambitious students to elect.

Required courses are: U.S. History, U.S. Government, and Economics, for introducing the problems of money as they touch both government and the individual person.

Other courses offered are: World Civilization, Introduction to Social Studies, Psychology, Indiana History, World Geography, and Sociology. The more ambitious pupil may take Humanities, discussed on page 71.

Art has many opportunities

A student has many classes to choose from in the Art Department. Exploratory Art is for freshmen only. This class involves all types of art and gives the new student a chance to discover which art class he likes best. Craft Design is a class which involves using the hands with a variety of media. Jewelry and Metal Craft teaches the student how to make jewelry. Commercial Art is a special class in which the student designs record covers, book covers, and fashion display.

The Stagecraft Class may not be heard of very often but signs of their work are seen a lot.

The Class' main purpose is to design sets for the school productions such as FLFFFF, the fall play, and their biggest job, the school musical.

The Stagecraft Club picks up where the class lets off. Anything left unfinished on a stage set, the club finishes.

Taking pictures, developing film, printing pictures, then displaying the final product is what the photography class is all about.

Students have the opportunity to learn more about professional photography and the techniques that make photography work an exciting career.

Science Department moving forward

The most unsanitary class at Tech is held first and second periods in Room 194. The Advanced Biology class and teacher, Garlan Howard grow germs the first nine weeks of the first semester.

The class is designed for students who want to go further into biology after Biology I and II.

The first nine weeks are devoted to microbiology or bacteriology. The second nine weeks are given to histology. The opening half of the second semester is for embryology, and the last half—what we have been waiting for—comparative anatomy. Part of this study is dissecting.

Pure cultures, petrie dishes, and broths full of pathogenic, or harmful germs are all part of the scene in microbiology. The class studies bacteria and other microorganisms by growing them. The pupils are given nine unknown bacteria, and Mr. Howard wants the pupils to identify them.

By running tests, such as stains, motility slides, spore slides, amylase production tests, tests for the liberation of hydrogen, sulfide and others, pupils gather enough information to identify the germ.

Pupils learn to make tasty broths and agars for the bacteria they grow. Students are also taught methods of sanitation, of course, although growths do become contaminated.

One broth is used to determine whether bacteria do or do not need oxygen to grow. Another group of broths are of different sugars. They are used to determine the PH, or percentage of hydrogen ion of the bacterium.

The class also learns about the families which different microorganisms belong to, if they are harmful or helpful to plants and animals including man, and how they can be controlled.

Maybe those nine weeks are the busiest part of the class, but Advanced Biology is interesting. If you have just read some heavy words, take the class and find out what they mean.

Pants Factory teaches skills of production

As o result of o summer workshop, Mrs. Corrol Rose come out with o study program which did owoy with most book reoding. It wos colled Pants Factories.

This wos started in the early foll with her Coreer Clothing I closs. Borely ony of the students knew eoch other, but does on employer usuolly know the employee? First, they filled out opplicotions which had names and telephone numbers for recommendotions. A speoker from the Indiono Employment Service, Mrs. Ann Doy, come to tolk with the girls. Mrs. Doy spoke to them obout the quolificotions for getting o job. Some were: good ottendonce, willingness to work ond not waste time, and skills in the oreo of work. She olso tolked obout the minimum wage ond lows of employment.

After understonding employment, twelve people were chosen for the foctory. Eoch foctory hod o president ond o nome. A few of the nomes were Fomous Jeons, Ploin Ponts, Blue Jeans, ond Compbell's Compony.

The componies had to figure the cost of equipment, ond eoch person chose o style of ponts.

Then there were problems, ond some people hod to be loid off or fired. This showed the girls problems of the employers os for os firing and hiring ore concerned.

Next, the girls hod to figure out the lobor cost for moking jeons. They multiplied hours worked times the minimum woge for the total labor cost for one poir of jeons.

They kept records of oll hours, production, and spending.

They were groded on points in ten different oreos. A few of the higher points were:

ROTC officers proud of achievements

From June 27 to July 9, Army ROTC units from the 11 Indianapolis high schools and some members from the Marine ROTC of Muncie, Southside went to Central Indiana JROTC Summer Camp Atterbury in Edinburg, Indiana.

Approximately 200 cadets (50 female) went to camp to study marksmanship, patroling tactics, compass reading and other skills necessary for war games and actual combat. Everything was strictly army, from PT (physical training) to getting up at 0430 hours. Five Tech cadets earned officer commissions from the Officer Candidate School (OCS) where NCO's (non-commission officers) go to become officers. The five from Tech were: C/CPT Darlene Woods, C/2LT William Vollmer, C/2LT Mike Pipes, C/2LT Ezra Davis.

Cadets that successfully complete the two weeks are advanced one rank. Battlefield promotions were earned C/2LT Duane Williams and C/2LT Derrick Jones.

The cost was $30.00 for the two weeks which included meals, ammo, shelter, insurance—everything except personal supplies and spending money at NCO Club, PX and Big Roby's Concession Stand.

Precision, perfection and expertise

Precision, perfection, and expertise. That is the goal of the IDR drill team. All these qualities are definite requirements for the team since they must go by the book, FM 22-5 (field manual) none of the fancy drill that the boys and girls Exhibition Drill Teams perform in their routine.

The team is commanded by C/2LT William Vollmer an OCS (Officer Candidate School) graduate. Vollmer, a junior here at Tech, has had command of the team since March, 1976. The team has been important to him since his freshman year. The teams XO (executive officer), the second in command, is C/SFC Denny Holt, a sophomore. Holt has been on the team since his freshman year.

Last year was the first time the IDR went out for competition. They have been here for five years. No awards have been won yet, but a lot of effort and team work have been put forth on all levels.

The team practices all the school year for two sets of drill meets, one in the fall and one in the spring. Other special events are scheduled for Armed Forces Day and Annual Federal Inspection.

"Lookin' good" in student polls

It wos Election Day ot Tech for those 14 years or older. The young people finolly got their chonce to voice on opinion in American politics by pulling the lever under the name of the condidate of their choice. This election took ploce in the Born which is on the east side of the campus by the Woodruff gote. There were slight similorities between this mock election ond the real election os they both took place on Tuesday, November 2, ond Jimmy Carter was the president-elect in both. We hove the Tech 300 to thank for this opportunity of voting before we are 18 years old ond just giving us a chonce to see who the student body prefers for president.

YOU ASKED FOR A VARIETY: Tech 300 has it ot the Extravaganza.

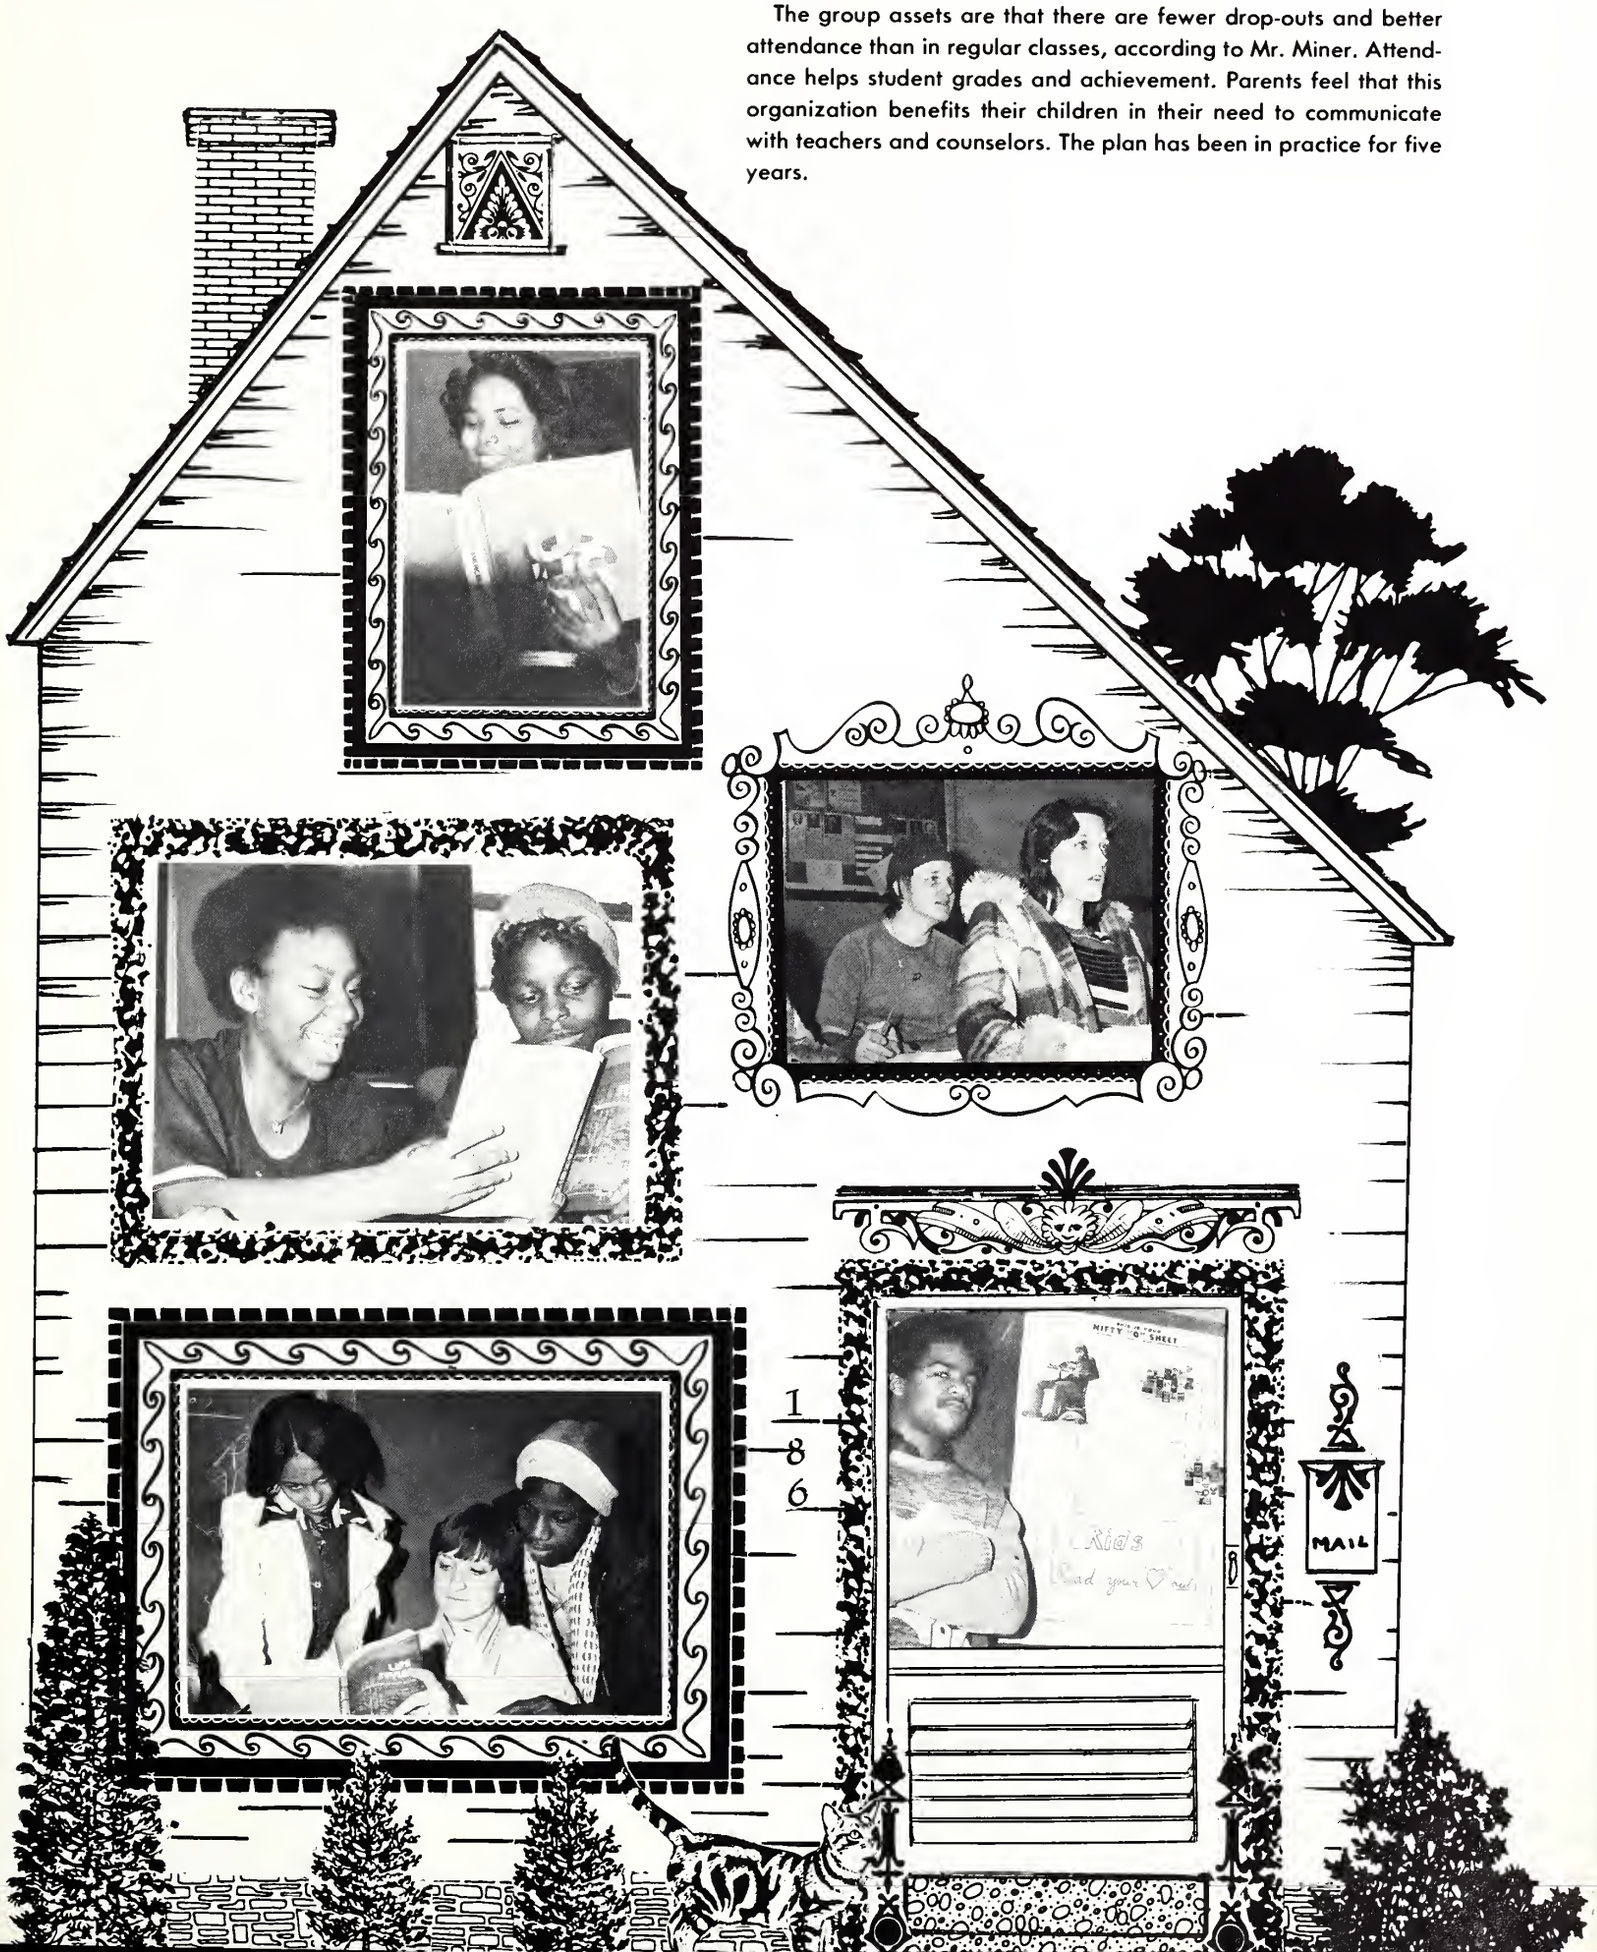
House is home for many

The purpose of the House Plan is to bring students closer together. It is done by choosing at random the incoming freshmen who will participate and placing them in the House Plan. Some 700 pupils now are in the House, and they have 14 regular teachers, one dean, one counselor and the head, Mr. Miner.

The group assets are that there are fewer drop-outs and better attendance than in regular classes, according to Mr. Miner. Attendance helps student grades and achievement. Parents feel that this organization benefits their children in their need to communicate with teachers and counselors. The plan has been in practice for five years.



Tech's not gettin' older, it's gettin' better

THE GIRLS' NEW GYM—lookin' good!

During the last 18 months many changes have been underway on Tech's campus. These include a new gym for the girls and a new swimming pool. The old Boys' Gym has been remodeled.

The swimming pool and Girls' Gym are modern and artistic. The racing lanes of the pool measure 75 feet long and 45 feet wide. The diving tank is 36 feet long and 36 feet wide. The pool has a high dive and a low dive, both springboards. The architect's work is of the latest design.

The Boys' Gym has been restored. The floor has a new surface. The old fold-up bleachers are completely redone. The area which once was the stage has been enlarged and converted into a wrestling room for practice and for meets.

YOU'VE COME A LONG WAY, BABY.

Art, music, dance enliven language scene

"ALL IS NOT GOLD that glitters," proclaims Carla Dicksan, displaying decaratian for her Spanish classroom.

The Foreign Language Department ended last year and started this one with the visit of Vicki Carson, Bill Cox and Janet Deatrick for an eight-week stay in France. The three, now seniors, were juniors and French students—the first qualifications needed to apply for the IUPUI Honors Abroad Program, which is open in the four languages taught at Tech.

Six steps are entailed in getting the appointment. The applicant must write a letter stating his reasons for applying, he must pay a fee to be tested in comprehension of the chosen language. Then the applicant must request numerous recommendations. He gets a personal interview with a native speaker of the chosen language to determine whether he can represent his country, himself, and his school in a foreign country.

Vicki, Bill and Janet were able to do this. They had an exciting summer speaking and listening to French and touring the country.

Members of the department, headed by Dan Stanley, express pride in the accomplishment of the three who were honored upon their return by a reception and program in the Forum.

Foreign Language Fun for Flight Fare is definitely an annual event now. This year's production spoofed television shows.

Who says that only the French can cook? Get together a French Club, French recipes and your taste buds—two out of the three are American—and prove to yourself that French recipes American style are just as good as the real thing!

Well, Tech did just that the last Monday in October. A French Tasting Bee was held in Stuart Tower. Members of the French Club and Mrs. Maria Lagadon, sponsor, made the scrumptious delicacies following French recipes.

For 75 cents, pupils and teachers enjoyed French foods such as quiche Lorraine, crepes, pain Francais, eclairs and pate. Non-believers went away convinced, and many went back for more.

The German Club has more to offer to Tech students than they realize. The German Club consists mostly of German students, but anyone can join. The club wasted no time at all getting reorganized this year: they met the second week of school. The club, which is headed by Paula Barbour, planned field trips for the year. The first trip was to Columbus, Ohio, for two days midway through November.

Just plain fun and togetherness

If you happened to be around Room 335 in Stuart Hall anytime this year, you probably noticed the room was ever-increasing in beauty. This was a year-long effort by the Spanish Club to beautify their room. Sheila Sullivan, sponsor of the club and the teacher who is in the room most, got the class into the idea. The club, together, made one large wall hanging and each member put something on it to represent himself. Also some of the members made ornaments to decorate the room.

This was not the kick-off though. The Spanish Club started the year with a Taco Dinner at Mrs. Maria Lagadon's house followed by a visit to the Ballet Folklorico at Clowes Hall on Thursday October 21, 1976.

In FLFFF, whose theme was A DAY IN THE LIFE OF TELEVISION, the Spanish Club did "The Price is Right". The club also took part in the International Dinner, November 13. Plans are under way for a ten-day trip to Mexico this summer.

As a fund raiser, aside from Foreign Language Fun for Flight Fare, the Spanish Club sold suckers and bubblegum—a pleasant change from all those milk chocolate bars, but bad competitive pressure.

Industrial interested individuals in ICT

What, a UFO? No the ICT which stands for Industrial Cooperative Training. It consists of twenty-nine young men at least 16 years of age and in their junior or senior year of high school.

It began before the present sponsor, Ernest Holmes, joined the staff in 1967, as assistant coordinator. Some of the occupations included are Auto Body, Auto Mechanics, Carpentry, Electrical Repair, Electronics Motor Training, and Pipe Fitting.

The participants in ICT work three hours in school every day, and after school they work part time. They receive a grade in class; and a grade in on-the-job training. They receive two credits. Some of the jobs at which they work are at Naval Avionics, Community Hospital, Haag's Warehouse, Indianapolis Rubber Company, and many others. The hourly wage ranges from $2.00 to $3.50. The main purpose of the program is to receive training on the job.

Mr. Holmes mentions that the applicant must have had two years of industrial training, and the main requirements which he looks forward to are average grades and good attendance.

Here's where they put it on paper

The Printing Department is unique. The big machines are similar to those machines the INDIANAPOLIS STAR uses downtown. Many are the same machines. Some are: Vandercook Proof Press, Michle Offset Press, Seybold Citation Paper Cutter, Original Heidelburg Press, and Ludlow Linotype Headsetter.

One part of the department teaches students to print the school newspaper, the ARSENAL CANNON, with all the big machines.

The second part teaches students to be professional printers, using all the up-to-date equipment.

This part shows the correct way to hand-set type, return it to the proper case, take proofs, read the proofs, and print the copies needed.

DAVID MIMS etches a blueprint for the CANNON.

Auto Mechanics One for the road

The Auto Mechanics Department is a continually busy place with students interested in their work. This vocation is a fine one as there are a lot of automobiles out on the road breaking down every day.

The list of repairs ranges from bad distributor caps to tune-ups with an occasional thrown rod. Repairs for all these are taught in the Auto Mechanics Department.

Engine Systems I and II teaches the basics; III and IV handles more complicated repairs.

Auto Mechanics is not only for the guys; Tech now has a powder-puff course for interested young ladies.

There is a lot of business out there. Go get it, auto mechanics majors.

Somewhere you have to draw the line

The Tech Drafting Department students are developing houses, architects have never dreamed of. The floor plans are unique. The dreams of a student's house are going onto paper and becoming a reality for a few moments.

Drafting involves many skills. Some of these skills are: reading blue prints, knowing how to recognize the symbols, including those for a door, or bathroom facilities, and how to draw the footage of a wall.

There are many tools in drafting. The T square, triangle, and rulers for drawing lines are a few.

Electronics a shocking experience

Electronics is one of the fastest growing fields of today which is drawing more and more interest. Electronics is one of four fields offered by Tech in the Electrical Trades Department. Other courses include radio and television, air conditioning, and heating and refrigeration.

A student may be trained at Tech for an electrical trades job after high school. In a field such as electronics a student may have to go through college for further training.

Hopeful chefs cooking up tasty future

Going to be a bachelor for awhile after school? Then take a cooking class. First the pupil signs up for Foods I and II.

Going to seek a career in food preparation? Then the pupil may sign up for Commercial Foods I and II in the Career Center. After all this training, he may take Advanced Commercial Foods.

Such training might begin a wonderful career in foods. A chef might start this way, continuing after high school in a vocational school. Some graduates may become restaurant managers.

Food is a major factor of the American Way, and taking classes in the foods area might make a guy (or girl) a pretty good cook.

Put down the books, pick up the tools

Metal Trades is a very interesting field that allows the student to put away the books and be creative with his hands and bring out his hidden talents.

Metal Trades is a three period, two credit class offered both semesters. It includes pattern making, foundry, sheet metal and welding. Last year Metal Trades made the giant metal snowmen on our downtown Circle. This is just one of many projects done by the metal tradesmen of Tech.

Building Trades prosper

The Building Trades Department of the Career Center develops students who are interested in the art of building structures. Small barns, dog houses, and tables, such as end tables are built in the classroom. Courses teach the student some carpentry and masonry work; also a person might build a house some day, the way some students built the house on Michigan Street a few years ago. This is another one of the Career Center's fine departments which help make students from Tech prosperous men.

Athletics

The athlete (male or female) is defined as a competitor for a prize in public games or one who is trained to contend in feats of physical bravery or of great physical strength. This definition of a true athlete is not known to some of the nonparticipating outside critics, who stand around selfishly throwing out their outside criticisms, and also waiting impatiently to see if their chosen athlete will fulfill their needs and will fill their pockets with green bills. The critic never cares about the feelings or the pressures upon the athlete. When a person decides that he wants to compete in sports, he hasn't made this decision just to satisfy his parents or the audience, but to find himself and to find out what kind of ability or talent he has. To become really involved with sports or to gain a scholarship to a college which takes an interest in the athlete—this keeps him going.

In tournament or season competition, an athlete has a lot of pressure forced upon him. It is something he must face and accept. This is all part of winning and something each athlete must endure to reach his goal.

Sometimes an athlete will block out all outside interferences, such as noises from the fans. The athlete is not trying to ignore his friends or family, when they call his name from the stands. Sometimes he is in a pure state of concentration so that he hears nothing but what he wants to hear. This is a true part of an athlete's success. How well he can concentrate determines how well he will do in competition.

Concentration is a vital part of success in athletics because more athletes are finding out that mental power usually overpowers physical strength. We do not know the limit of what can be achieved by the body under control of the brain. The power of concentration is not always more powerful than the physical ability; it depends upon the mental state or intelligence of the athlete, and most of all, the desire he has to use mental ability over physical. Some athletes have learned to combine mental ability with physical ability and have become some of the most outstanding and honorable athletes in America today.

Track Team has right ingredients for 1976

When the smell of track season is in the air, Tech becomes the most heard and talked about team in the city. Other high schools in the city know that this is the team for whom they must once again, lay all their talent, knowledge, and strategy on the line. This year their strategy failed. Tech had all the right ingredients for the 1976 city championship. The Titans put all of the talent they had forward in one tight bundle, but when the bundle became too tight with talent, they let it go. The Titans were on the loose again! Tech dominated the season's City's Best.

There were Madison Miller, 100 yd. dash 9.8; Madison Miller, 220 yd. dash 21.9; Nicky Edwards, 880 yd. dash 1.56; Jerry Hill, high hurdles 13.8; Jerry Hill low hurdles 19.2; John Brinkley, high jump 6-6; Kenny Lee, shot-put 57-11; 880 relay 1:29.7; mile relay 3:26. All of these were the best in the city.

Although the Tech Track Team was number one in the city, Tech was runner-up next to North Central, in the Sectional, Regional and State competition. North Central dominated the county polls. North Central also happens to be one of Tech's biggest rivals every year. This time they slipped past the sharp blade of the Titan's sword.

The Tech Track Team, win or lose, is a respected team, known by every coach and school in the state of Indiana. Beating the Titans is not an easy job, and this is what gave them the position they strive to keep each year.

One surprising win come ogainst the Attucks Tigers, when the Titans defeoted them 108-1.

There is not ony kind of city tournament for the reserve team, but they are octive in ony kind of tournament given by any high schools throughout the city.

The reserve teom was made up mostly of juniors ond sophomores lost seoson, who will be bock hopefully to corry on their winning streok os most of them odvonce to the vorsity teom.

Tech Frosh take city crown

Tech's Freshman Track Team began their first year at Tech on the right foot, as they defended their City Championship Crown.

The freshmen of the 1976 season put away all of their school troubles that always seem to pile up for the beginning student, and established an undefeated season.

Together Coach Don Robinson and Assistant Coach John Hall worked together to produce freshman record-breaking trackmen, whose attitudes and team spirit made them a winning team. These trackmen have returned this season, but not as freshmen. As sophomores this spirited team has added their talent to the rest of Tech's Reserve and Varsity teams.

Tech girls have winning track season 1976

The Girls Track Team of 1976 was a team of speed, strong relays and quick aggressive freshmen. The girls defeated all of their regular season opponents except for the defending state champions from Washington High School.

The team did not expect to win the City crown, yet they went on to become Sectional Champions, take second place in the Regionals and eighth in the State competition. The girls also made their season great by defeating Marshall High School for the first time in two years.

The Girls Track Team lost four senior members last season, but this loss will not weaken their team because of the strong freshmen who will be returning this season, according to Coach Sue Jahnke.

Varsity Baseball Team has 14-13 season

If the game were started 30 minutes late because one umpire hadn't arrived yet, and then he had to leave early, you would have troubles too. This was the situation as the Tech Varsity baseball team played in the first round opener of the City Championship games. Tech defeated their first round opponent, Northwest, 2-1. The next round for the Titans was against defending champs, Chatard. Champs they stayed, as they defeated Tech 10-2. Tech rounded out their season with 14 wins and 13 losses.

To Ivan Mooreman, coach of the varsity squad, the season was an enjoyable one. He also stated that the attitudes of the players were very good; they all seemed to have a lot of fun, and a game of fun makes a pleasing time for all.

The team played 27 games—the most games they have ever played in one season.

In the first game of the Sectional, North Central defeated Tech 8-4 in one extra inning. In the bottom of the seventh with North Central ahead by 2, Titan Roger Rebennack blasted a home run with one on to tie the game at 4. In the overtime inning North Central scored 4 runs with 2 outs accompanied by 5 Tech errors.

Reserves find winning season

Tech's reserve baseballers came up with a 10-9 record, following a couple of bad seasons.

After losing the first four games of the season, the Titans came back strong by winning five of the last six games.

The coach of the Tech Reserve Baseball Team, Dave George, commented that inexperience was a team problem. He sometimes started as many as six freshmen, but they compensated for inexperience by working very hard. He also pointed out that this was one of the best teams of reserves he had coached at Tech in a long time.

Some baseball action and personalities included a key pitching performance by Robert Myers, who pitched a no-hit game against Arlington. Ron May led Tech in pitching. A strong hitting attack was led by Terrance Chaney, Robert Bruce, Marlon Harris and Robert Goode, who pushed the Titans above .500.

SURE OF A GOOD HIT is Bobby Bruce.

The Boys' Tennis Team racked up an 8-5 season as they finished 9th in the City and advanced to the second round of the Sectional.

Outstanding achievers, and seeded for the City Tourney were tennis players, Jim Surrenkamp (most valuable), Terrance Chaney, Bill Smith, and Marlon Harris. Earning major awards for their talented ability for the sport of tennis were James Surenkamp, Dennis Hicks, Terrance Chaney, Bill Smith, Marlon Harris, Harry Fox, Richard Smith, and James Van Horn.

Hopefully, since there were no seniors leaving the team, all the players will return to better their season this year.

Tech Football Team splits season

WHOOPS! I missed.

Fumbles and parochial schools plagued the Tech Varsity Football Team last season. The Titans split their competitive season with five wins and five losses and duplicated their season of 1974.

The Titans were put to the test as they competed against some of the toughest teams in the city. The team kept their heads above water and pushed on to prove that hard nose football is Tech's game.

Even though Tech is not victorious in the ratings of the football polls, we are recognized for having one of the most outstanding backfields in the city.

Tech will be losing sixteen fine players this year, all who are graduating seniors. These seniors have contributed much of themselves and their energy for our team. Although the football team has lost some good talent, this loss will not cripple the rest of the squad. This season we have more pro career hopefuls who will spread their talent all over the field to build a green and white path to Titan victory for 1977.

Reserve Football Team has tough season

The 1976 Reserve Football season was filled with bad luck for our Titan team. The Reserves ended their season with a 2-5 record with one tie against Chatard.

The team's first victory came against Marshall High School, in which the Tech Titans blew away the Patriots 30-0.

Although bad luck gave the Titan team a rough time, we all hope that the Reserve Football Team in the fall of '77 will be more mature and beat the record of the 1976 season.

The Reserve Team received a new coaching staff last fall, John Hurrle, coach, and assistant coach, Al Moore. Coach Hurrle who had been, through recent years, coach of the Freshman Football Team, replaced Melvin Bowers, who resigned as coach of the Reserve Team, and ended his teaching career at Tech.

Frosh footballers, promising athletes

The Freshman Football team proved that they were ready for participation in high school athletics this season by earning themselves a 4-5 season. For some of the freshmen on the team this was the first sport they had ever participated in on the high school level. Since high school sports are more competitive and the coaches demand more from the athletes, some of the freshmen had to get used to the changes.

The freshmen started their season by winning the first few games. A few people thought that the Tech Freshman Football Team was on its way to a victorious season, but as it sometimes goes when you have your hopes too high, things don't always go the way you had expected them to. Halfway through the season, and undefeated at that time, the team lost to Chatard. There were other wins after this defeat, but following close behind was more defeat, tagging behind like a six-year-old child who wants to follow the teen-agers. Win or lose, Tech's Freshmen Footballers actually did end their season with a seal of approval—good promising athletes.

The team placed 4th in the Washington Invitational, 3rd in the Tech Invitational, and 7th in the Columbus Invitational.

In the City Tournament the Tech team was runner-up, but when sectional time rolled around Tech was close in the running and received 6th place.

Freshman Cross Country Team forfeits two

The Tech Freshman Cross Country Team ended their season with a 6-2 record. The team gave away the chance for an undefeated season when Tech was forced to forfeit meets to Southport and Perry Meridian high schools.

The forfeit is a rule in the simple ideal of fair play. When a team does not have enough runners for a meet, they must turn the meet over to the opponents, giving them the victory for that meet. This was the situation when Tech met Southport and Perry Meridian.

Although the Titans gave away two easily won victories, the forfeits did not turn out to be a depressive influence for the team. They won the rest of their meets.

The freshmen placed 4th in the Washington Invitational and 7th in the Columbus Invitational.

Befare the state campetition, Fawlkes had made ather exciting triumphs. He captured the city title, placed first in the Sectianal, and Regianal and secand in the Semi-State. For this graduating senior, it's been quite a seasan!

The year of 1976-77 was a season of excitement for the varsity wrestling hopefuls as they ended their season with a 7-2 record and a 3rd place in the city tournament.

A lot of future talent was unchained during the wrestling season which may have some effect on the varsity team for next year.

City champions for the Reserves this season were Gerald Fowlkes and Antonio Martin. Placing second were wrestlers, Dwayne Craig, Gene Brown, and James Pollard.

Freshmen wrestlers are aggressive

The fall season was a very decision making part of the beginning year for some freshmen here at Tech as they tried their hands at wrestling.

Some freshmen found out that the sport was a trying experience for them. But they discovered that wrestling can also be a challenge when they were taught ways of conquering their opponents.

The Freshman Wrestling Team ended their season with a 5-1 record and placed 5th in the City Tourney. Earning an individual championship was Ray Akers, and placing second was Dean Kelso.

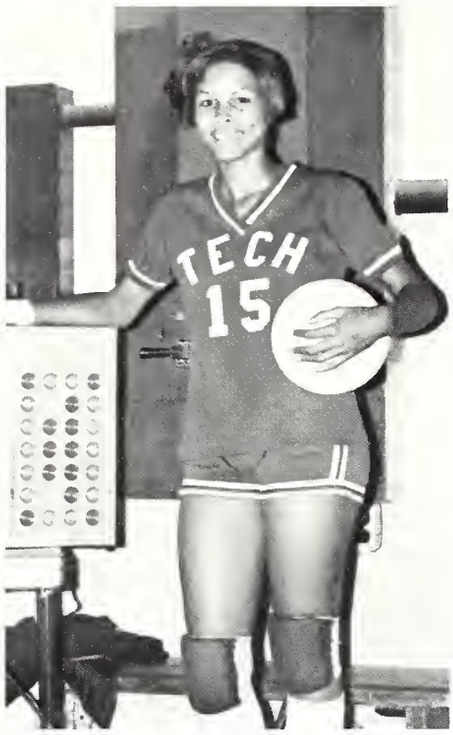
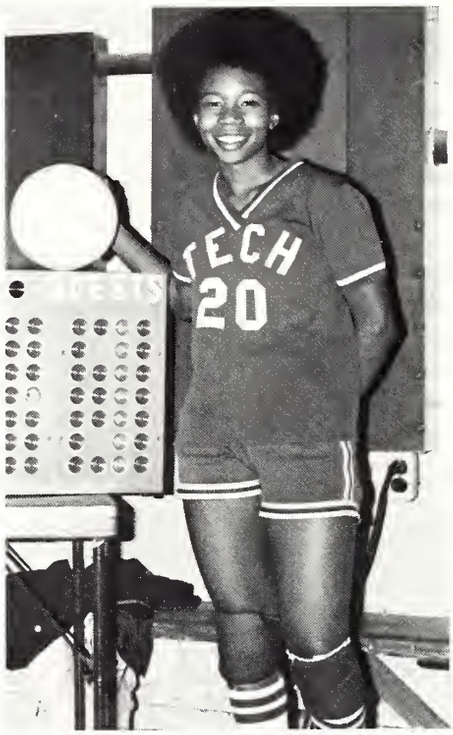
Volleyball Team has good potential



SENIOR PLAYER, Tonya Jackson.



SENIOR PLAYER, Loletta Brinkley.

Tech's Girls' Volleyball Team lost only two players from their 1975 season, leaving Tech with a 1976 veteran team. The girls had a lot of talent, experience and skill, but they just did not give a 100% effort.

Competition came against Marshall, to whom we lost in both rounds of action. The team got back on the track when they defeated Howe, at that time rated number 2 in the city polls.

In the sectional competition all of the girls were ready physically, but not mentally, and that's where the problem struck in the second round against Perry Meridian High School who was undefeated.

Returning talented players for next season's team will be: Leslie Green, Ada Johnson, and Cynthia Graham.

The team has also lost one player, Teresa Clemmons, and two players are to graduate, Tonya Jackson and Loletta Brinkley.

First year for Tech golf invitational

Tech's Golf Team had their first Invitational Tournament last season at Eagle Creek Park for all city teams, in which Tech received third place.

The number one man for Tech's Golf Team was Brad McCall for the 1976 season. Other top players were number two man Larry Johnson, number three man Jack Gross, number four man Dave Lewis and number five man Lonny Hockmann.

The Team was a good golf team with lots of potential and was better than the team from the season before. Five juniors hopefully return this season to lead the golf team to a victorious season.

Tech girls stronger and more confident

After making it to the Girls' State Basketball Finals last season, the girls were red hot for the 1976-77 season, capturing their second straight Sectional and Regional titles.

Last season the girls had a few losses during regular season play but soon became notoriously dangerous after knocking off highly rated Ladywood—undefeated until that time, and riding high on a cloud.

The girls won the hearts of many this season as they were the favorite to win the state championship. But in the final round of the Semistate final, the Titans were bumped off by the Mount Vernon Marauders—Tech's only loss for the season.

In the first round action of the Regional Tourney, the Titans were up against fast-breaking Warren Central which prides itself on man-to-man defense. But Tech was stronger and more confident. In the final game against Carmel in the Regional, the Titanettes really had their work cut out for them. But they kept cool heads and defeated Carmel 50-41 when the opponent began to fold in the third quarter.

Tech blasts Rockets, Hornets get stung

In the Sectional Tournament Tech handed Ripple their third defeat by the Titans (59-53) in one season. The Tech team also gained revenge on the Rockets for last season's Sectional loss.

In the next round of action in the Sectional Tech was upset by the underdog, the Arlington Knights 70-69 on a bad case of fouls with a few seconds left in the game.

The Tech varsity basketball team took the blast out of the Broad Ripple Rockets and the sting out of the Howe Hornets, as the big green machine ended their season with a (19-5) record, and the city championship for 1977. The championship was the third for the Titans since 1974.

The excitement really crept in when the Titans took their revenge on the Rockets for a big upset from last season when the Rockets eliminated the Titans from the city championship semi-finals and again in regular season play. This time Tech turned the wheels and eliminated Ripple from the 1977 city championship semi-finals 66-63. The Titans then shielded themselves from the sting of the Howe Hornets, who earlier in regular season play had defeated them 75-73.

The Titans force held strong and the Hornets quickly broke down to nothing but harmless bumble bees. With one big stump the Titans smashed the Hornets and their 13-0 record 79-63. The Tech Titans took the city crown that was so eagerly wanted by Howe.

Freshmen finish in mixed figures

The 1976-77 Freshman Basketball Team ended their season with a 15-3 record.

At the beginning of the season the freshmen had a bit of the starting-season jitters when they were defeated by Woodview 47-49. It was the first game of the season. But getting in tune did not take long for the new team. They just washed away the butterflies and shifted into victory gear, and headed on their way.

From the talent shown by these freshmen, the future reserve and varsity should have no problems finding players.

Cheerleaders moving for school spirit

Who is full of yells and great school spirit? Who supports our basketball and football teams? The Cheerleaders. They are at every game giving our teams their fullest support. They cheer when they get there until the minute they leave.

In trying out for the Cheerleading squads a girl or a guy is required to have an original cheer. After all interested individuals have tried out, a selected committee of teachers and students selects the new cheerleaders. The six who make up each of three squads are always reminded of how they appear before the crowd as they will receive criticism on what they do.

The squads work along the same line as the athletic department with a Freshman, Reserve, and Varsity squad cheering respectively. This year's varsity squad will lose four seniors: Alex Hong, Gina Foster, Jaye Marcum, and Denise Browning. Three of these four have been on the varsity squad for three years.

1977 Seniors

Four years come and go. As freshmen we look up to the Seniors. As sophomores, we have gained more confidence and are looking toward the future. When the junior year rolls around, all we can think about is next year, but as Seniors, we have achieved. It is then that we realize what we have done and what we can do. This year is the turning point in our lives. The future is ready for us, we must make it.

Many things take place for us to remember; electing Senior Council, Homecoming, tug-o-war, Sadie Hawkins, and the prom. But the most important event of the year is graduation, the moment when the class president leads the entire senior class in the tassel ceremony. This is the moment when it is too late to turn back. We are Tech graduates.

OFFICE OF THE PRINCIPAL

October 6, 1976

WHAT IT'S LIKE TO BE A PRINCIPAL

In doing whatever it is that a principal does, I feel that he must keep in mind the following concepts:

"The elements of trust and faith in the abilities of others are most important: trust and faith in the abilities of classroom teachers, and the custodial, cafeteria, clerical, administrative, and supportive staffs -- to fulfill their respective jobs within the schoolhouse setting.

"You must have confidence in students and their desire and ability to achieve an education. The school does not co-exist with students -- the school exists for the students."

Respectfully,

Teachers must work hard to fulfill duty

Each citizen must discover his own potential and try for self fulfillment. He must confront prejudice and live with a fair concern for others.

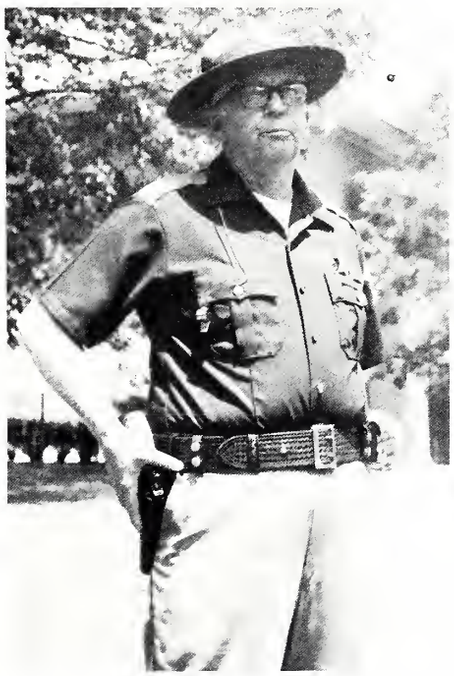
Gaining a new concept of himself, the slum child can overcome his deprivation. Freed of defeatism and bitterness, the black pupil can avail himself of new opportunity. Aware of the enormous possibilities of human personality, the handicapped can expand his limitations. Recognizing society's need for wholesome leadership, the young rebel can channel his independence. Maintaining his individuality, the gifted can, in turn bestow his gifts.

Youth needs ideals without hypocrisy; criticism without loss of faith; devotion to country without militant nationalism; respect for work without sacrifice of the joy of living.

It is in these areas that a teacher tries to help young people explore through the process of education. The task is difficult but full of hope.

Young people repay honesty with confidence; responsibility with self-discipline; respect with respect. It is when they react courageously to the search for a better life that I am glad I am a teacher.

ROBERT FORD is ready far a rainy day with his windshield wiper equipped glasses.



JAMES TAFLINGER madels his deputy sheriff's unifarm that he wears as a bailiff in caurt.

JOHN MINER, in his classy attire, takes a minute ta relax fram his daily wark.

The National Bellamy Award

honoring Tech since 1947

The National Bellamy Flag Award was established in 1942 under the leadership of an indefatigable lady Dr. Margarette S. Miller, biographer of Francis Bellamy, author of the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America. Mr. Bellamy wrote the Pledge of Allegiance in 1892 for the National Public School Celebration of Columbus Day, commemorating the four-hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America.

The purpose of the Bellamy Award is two-fold: to give recognition to the author and perpetuate his memory and to encourage the teaching of patriotism and good citizenship in the schools of our nation.

Throughout the history of our country the schools have performed a real and splendid job in fostering the students a realization of the advantages and responsibilities that go with Americans citizenship.

Each year since 1942 an outstanding secondary school in a different state has been elected to receive this coveted award on or near Columbus Day. Presentation of the Flag flown over the Nation's Capital on May 18, birthday of Francis Bellamy, is made by Dr. Miller to the chosen school.

Tech received this award in 1947 and now holds the longest record of attendance at Bellamy Award presentations throughout the country.

It is up to all true Titans to maintain in their daily endeavors the spirit of this award. May we all be inspired to redouble our efforts, not only to maintain our American way of life, but to extend it as well.

I pledge allegiance to my Flag and (to) the Republic for which it stands —
one Nation indivisible — with liberty and justice for all.

FRANCIS BELLAMY · 1892

ORIGINAL PLEDGE in 1892

"I know three things must always be
To keep a nation strong and free.
One is a hearthstone bright and clear
With busy, happy, loved ones near.
One is a ready heart and hand
To love and serve and keep the land.
One is a worn and beaten way
To where the people go to pray.
So long as these are kept alive
Nation and People will survive.
God, keep then always, everywhere:
The Hearth, the Flag, the Place of Prayer."

FRANCIS BELLAMY, author of the pledge

Tech 300 draws national recognition

As the Tech 300 program moves through its third year, new and exciting things are happening. The educational experiment, originally funded by Lilly Endowment, Inc. is gaining nation-wide attention.

During a recent evaluation, Dr. Richard Kunkel, Chairman of the Department of Education, St. Louis University, called the program "one of the most exciting, challenging efforts in urban education today."

Staff personnel operate within four work specialty areas: (1) youth worker; (2) supportive educator; (3) programmatic coordinator; and (4) social service person. Assignment of specific duties of project personnel is accomplished through the use of conventional horizontal programs. The scheduled work day extends from 8:00 A.M. through 5:00 P.M., Monday through Friday. In addition, personnel are involved in many student activities after school, evenings and weekends.

Staff personnel are involved in an intensive tutorial effort both during and after class with emphasis on the basic areas of mathematics, reading and citizenship. In addition, much informal counseling is done during cafeteria and hall duty assignments and through supervision of student activities including educational field trips, outdoor activities, cultural events, self-development projects, and intramural athletics.

CONFEREES REPRESENTING PRESIDENT CARTER AND TECH 300: Mrs. Betsy Boltz, Bob McGee, Harv Ostdyk, Silvia Vella, Dan Cormady, and Jerry Bennett.

Dedication

The Yearbook Staff hereby dedicates all the work put into this yearbook to a great and truly dedicated lady in Miss Bernice Jones. Miss Jones has dedicated her years at Tech to the publication of the school's yearbooks. She will be remembered in the heart of all for years to come. Now as she retires let us honor her in this publication. To you, Miss Jones, we dedicate this book.

Bernice Jones

Acknowledgements

The 1976-77 Yearbook staff would like to extend many thanks to the following persons and organizations for their contributions in the publication of this yearbook: The Indianapolis Star/News and the Republican State Headquarters for their contributions to the political section of the book, Mrs. Mary Churchman for help in the Alumni Page, Mrs. Margaret Thornburgh for contributions to the National Bellamy Award page, Mr. Mark McDaniel for PTA photography, H. Lieber and Co. for special photography development on the cover, Vicki Carson for the cover picture, Wood High School Publications Department for assistance on the recognition page, and Mrs. Paul Lewis for PTA assistance.

Alumni never leave Tech

Consisting of 80,000 members but only 15,000 current addresses, the Tech Alumni Association has gone through some very heavy reorganization. When the association started, it consisted of few members. This number grew over the years until Tech's campus became too small to handle it. In 1972, a lady by the name of Mary Churchman contacted the association about having a 10-year reunion. Of the 540 graduated in '62, only 6 current addresses were on file.

Mrs. Churchman contacted the association about starting a committee to locate its members by 1974. Some 80,000 persons had to be located, but because of the vast number and small staff, only 15,000 of the addresses are accurate. In May of 1973, Mrs. Churchman was asked to be president of the association. She accepted and as her right hand she appointed Mrs. Susan Lebo.

Since 1975, Mrs. Lebo has been president. Under these two ladies the association has accomplished a lot of things. Aside from bringing the membership back up, reorganizing the files, getting committees started, starting new projects, the association has done something more spectacular. Because of its size and the need for a more adult atmosphere, the association moved off Tech campus and now is in the process of incorporating.

As project for the year, the association is starting a fund to renovate the West Residence. The yearly scholarship will be increased from its 30-year run of $200 to possibly $750.

In the words of Mrs. Mary Riner Churchman, class of '62, president 73-75, Tech's association is a group of people who care about Tech, who recognize what a good education you get at Tech. The association gives Techites the opportunity to keep in contact and see the people they once knew so well.

PTA concern: student needs

The PTA at Tech works diligently to support Tech young people. They began the school year taking school pictures, awarding honor sweaters, keys, and certificates to students who have maintained a 7.0 average throughout high school. PTA held a chili supper, sold license plates, published a newsletter, worked in the Bookstore and provided aid whenever needed. They also provide funds for worthy school causes. At the end of each semester, the PTA awards blue and red ribbons to honor roll and honorable mention students.

They proudly give two $100.00 awards to graduating seniors as well as $25.00 to any student maintaining straight A's throughout high school.

Through the year students at Tech are their main concern. We are fortunate in having many wonderful parents who willingly give of their time.
